Candidates Announce For Various Offices

Candidates have started announcing for the various offices in a manner that makes the 1939 campaign look like a reality.

The largest number of announcements carried this year comes out this week and generally are mentioned in regular order in the following columns.

Nicols Seeks Attorney Post

W. B. Nicols has announced his candidacy for the County Prosecuting Attorney's post, in the August primary election.

Mr. Nicols was born in 1906 at Durant Mississippi and reared there, the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Nicols.

After graduating from Durant High School spent two years in a law office, studying law. This was followed by a year in the claim department of the Illinois Central Railroad.

Following graduation from Cumberland University was admitted to the bar in Tennessee and Mississippi, in 1932.

In 1933 while the Federal Land Bank was swamped with applications for loans, a former associate of Mr. Nicols, then in charge of the legal department called him as an assistant, wherein he rendered aid to applicants for a three-year period.

In 1936 the Federal Land Bank placed Mr. Nicols at Grenada to look after affairs of North Mississippi, in attempting to straighten out legal tangles, and titles in which the bank was interested, and aid applicants with their second mortgage attempts.

January 1, 1938, Mr. Nicols resigned his connection with the Federal Land Bank to enter private practice in Grenada.

Commenting on his campaign, he said, "I promise entire cooperation with all law enforcement officers, and vigorous prosecution of all persons violating our laws."

Mrs. Alexander For Circuit Clerk

The Circuit Court Clerk's position in the announcement column changes this week from "announcement" to a signal for a race in the August primary, with the entry of Mrs. Nannie Alexander as the second candidate for office.

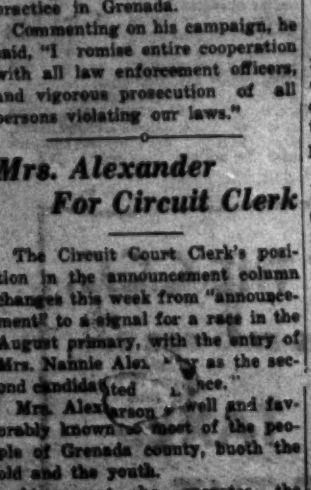
Mrs. Alexander is well and favorably known to most of the people of Grenada county, bueth the old and the youth.

At present, she operates the cafeteria for Grenada Public Schools, and has for the past two seasons managed in a most efficient and courteous manner, the city swimming pool.

Possessing a most jovail and pleasant manner, she has gained a large number of friends and admirers. She is known for her generous and charitable qualities, among her other virtues. She gives her very best efforts to any task which is hers to perform.

A fair and impartial consideration is solicited in her behalf.

Candidate for Circuit Clerk



MRS. NANNIE ALEXANDER

Winston Frazier In Sheriff's Race

Winston Frazier has "broken the ice" in the sheriff's race, by being the first to throw his hat in the ring.

Mr. Frazier is now Chief Deputy for Sheriff Dogan and has had charge of the clerical matters at the sheriff's office for almost four years.

In the recent audit of the county's affairs, State Auditor Carl Craig said of his books: "The records in this office were found to be exceptionally neat and accurate, which conditions facilitates our examination."

During the three year period, for which the audit was made, Mr. Frazier was "long" $18.71 in excess of all charges against his office. This was due to "pick-up and drop" which is caused by the numerous fractional transactions, in which the collector had to take the full penny to prevent a shortage

Frazier received his commercial training in Macon and Andrews College at Memphis, and took special course in accounting at Bowling Green. He also took course in accounting from the International Accounting Society and completed with A-gradings on all tests.

Previous to his connections at the sheriff's office, Mr. Frazier managed a local mercantile establishment in a most successful manner.

He was born and reared in Beat Two of Grenada county, is energetic and accurate in his transaction.

Full consideration of his qualifications will, no doubt, be given by the voters in the August primary

Chamberlain In The Race

G. E. Chamberlain who ably represents Beat Two on the Board of Supervisors, has announced his candidacy for re-election subject to the will of the voters in the August primary.

During his service on the Board Mr. Chamberlain has voted against all increases in taxes. The fact that the county has retired almost half of the bonded indebtedness which existed at the time he went into office may be attributed to some extent to the economy principles which he advocated as an official.

He points with a degree of pride to the progress that has been made on the roads of his beat, although under unusual disadvantages regarding the greater distances that gravel must be hauled, for surfacing roads, and a smaller quota of WPA labor than most beats have. This is due, Mr. Chamberlain says, to his beat being composed of small farms, and having little of the tenant and labor class.

Mr. Chamberlain is one of his Beat's most successful and prudent farmers. His friends attribute his accomplishments to economy, honesty, diversification and energetic efforts.

A careful and impartial consideration on the part of the voters in Beat Two is asked in behalf of Mr. Chamberlain.

J. B. Strider Is Beat 4 Candidate

J. B. Strider, prominent farmer of Beat Four, has announced his candidacy for Supervisor in the August primary.

Mr. Strider said that this is his first time to ask for public office.

While making known his intentions to enter the campaign he authorized the following statement:

"I am announcing for office. I wish to state that it will be my desire to see that the county's money is spent to the best possible advantage of the taxpayers.

"While I do not wish to make the impression that I am seeking this office solely for the honor, I do promise to be energetic and diligent in behalf of the citizens welfare, and may I at this time assure all that any support they may give my candidacy will be deeply appreciated."

The voters in Beat Four, will, no doubt, give the candidacy a thorough consideration before casting their votes in the coming election.

"Dink" Thomason For Chancery Clerk

The Star is authorized to announce the candidacy of R. B. "Dink" Thomason for Chancery Clerk, subject to the will of the voters in the August primary.

Mr. Thomason resides in Beat Four, and is one of Grenada county's leading farmers. Thorough consideration of his candidacy at the hands of the voters is solicited.

Printed below is a personal statement by him.

"While I have no desire to hasten the opening of the campaign which will end next August, many of my friends have urged me to make this, my formal announcement as candidate for the office of Chancery Clerk of Grenada county early, so that there will be no mistake about by being an aspirant for this important office. I do make this announcement.

"I am 51 years of age. I was born in this county. I have spent my entire life here. My people before me were citizens of this county and, I hope, have always been identified with the things that are good.

"If the people of this county do not know me and my people, then I cancan hardly hope, even in the eight months between now and election time, to make more than a casual acquaintance with them. I assure you however that those I do not know I will know within the next few months, for I am going to see each and every one of you and make a personal solicitation.

"To my opponent or opponents, whoever they be, I say, at the beginning, that I am going to make this race for 'Dink Thomason,' and not against anybody. The vices and failing of my opponents, if they have any, are not assets of mine, nor shall I seek to make them so. I propose to pitch my campaign on

Crime's Cradle Found In Home

Cleveland, O. —Crime prevention ni America must begin "in the high chair, and not in the electric chair" according to Judge J M. Braude, of the nationally-foemed Chicago boys court.

"Most parents don't know how to raise children," Judge Braude said while here to deliver an address. "They aren't prepared for it They won't know what to do when something goes wrong."

The man who makes both a career and a hobby of "liking bad boys" said parental ignorance and unpreparedness is the basic cause behind much of the nation's crime.

"Too many parents think only of themselves," he said. "They say to their boys, 'Go on, get out of here. We've got a bridge game tonight.' What many don't seem to realize is that they can't lead one kind of life and expect their children to lead another. Children learn most by precept and example."

Finds Too Many Diversions

Judge Braude blamed automobiles and movies among other diversions for breaking into close family groups and adding to the seriousness of modern parental problems.

"If parents want to keep their children at home," he said, "they have to offer them something — companionship and understanding."

Judge Braude's experiences in Chicago's boys' court have convinced him that boys' deeds — not boys themselves —are bad.

"The old theory that the criminal is born is pretty well exploded," he said. "It is more important to find if there is anything you can do for boys in trouble, than to say, 'Your'e born that way,' and throw them in jail.

"Destructive" Toys Criticized

He listed these basic "predisposing factors to adolescent crime":

Destructive toys, such as imitation guns, improper literature marihuana, liquor (involved in 30 to 35 per cent of the cases in his court), gangster movies, ardio serials and comic strips, the automobile and street gangs or -

Old Home Is Being Moved

The historic old house, known as the Kimbrough home and the White House is being moved to a different point on the old Grenada College campus, the ground which it formerly occupied having become a part of the Barwin Hotel property.

The structure was built by the late John Stokes in 1852, the father of the late Mrs. Kimbrough.

4-H Boys Plan Early Crop

(By L. H. Stubblefield)

4-H Club boys who are planning on an early Irish potato crop should be making arrangements now for certified seed. Last year the Mississippi Sun put on an educational window display of the three leading varieties of Irish potatoes which have been on a five year test at the Stoneville Experiment Station. These varieties were the Triumph, Red Warba and Chippewa. The Chippewa is a white potato .

The Red Warba has a five year average yield at Stoneville of 149 bushels per acre which is 29 bushels more than the Triumph. The Red Warba is a smoother and more attractive market potato than the Triumph. It will keep in storage considerably longer than most any spring Irish potato except the Chippewa which keeps equally as well.

Certified seed potatoes are the best to plant, because they are free of certain plant diseases which if once introduced to the soil will remain to infect crops for many years. Certified seed does not necessarily mean higher yields, because the certification only pertains to the disease free condition of the seed.

President In Attack On Conservatives

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt attacked a rebellious Congress today on fronts defended largely by Conservative members of his own party.

1. He returned to the Works Progress Administration fight with a request that Congress immediately consider emergency appropriation of another $150,000,000 which House and Senate only last month refused to provide.

2. He denied the version of Sen. Carter Glass, D., Va., of events leading up to the nomination of Judge Floyd H. Roberts to the Federal bench and challenged constitionality of the "senatorial courtesy" rule whereby the nomination was rejected. Mr. Roosevelt said he was inclined to think that Federal judgeships should not be included in senatorial patronage.

3. He denounced as deliberate misrepresentation the version of his foreign policy given the press by unnamed members of the House and Senate and charged at least one legislator with deliberately lying.

4. He questioned the patriotism of the act of one or more additional senators—likewise unidentified —who gave the press eroneous reports of sale of anti-aircraft equipment to Great Britain, thereby possibly revealing existence of secret American weapons.

The foreign policy dispute flared last week in international excitement over reports the president had said our national defense line lay on the Rhine or in France. He called the report a deliberate lie but was willing to close the book on that and related controversies if congress would. But the issue comes up this week when the Senate Military Affairs committee again considers motions to make action extended by the administration to prospective French purchasers of new-type American fighting planes.

Attack On One Crop Farming

Agricultural leaders of more than 200 counties in Arkansas, Mississippi, Missouri and Tennessee launched their attack last week against the evils of one crop farming in the MidSouth as they began their sixth annual enrollment drive in the $2900 Plant To Prosper Competition.

Spontaneous enthusiasm greeted the announcement of the renewal of the farm competition, which is sponsored in this county by The Daily Star and The Grenada Sentinel—The Commercial Appeal with the cooperation of the local extension services and the Farm Security Administration supervisors.

Stressing the production of food and feed crops as a means of protecting the actual cash farm income, agricultural agents have already begun urging the farm families to prepare their spring garden plots so that the farm may begin producing food as early as possible.

Each county agent's office and each Farm Security office has sufficient supplies of booklets on what should be planted now and how much each family should grow to take care of the needs of the family. Officials of the Plant To Prosper Bureau urge the farm families in the farm competition to get copies of these booklets and work out their food and feed budgets, immediately. Forty per cent of the Plant To Prosper contest is based on food and feed production.

Arkansas extension agents, seeking the Plant To Prosper enrollment trophy for the third consecutive time, jumped into the lead early last week as 10 counties in the Wonder State qualified in one or more divisions of the competition. Mississippi, Missouri and Tennessee have three qualified counties so far.

Pike county, Arkansas, leads all of the counties in the competition. C. M. Lampkin, county agent and Miss Marian Harper, home agent, enrolled 61 families in the contest during the first three days of the enrollment drive.

February has been proclaimed "Plant To Prosper Enrollment Month" in Arkansas, Mississippi, and Tennessee by the governors of those states. Extension officials of Mississippi and Missouri are completing plans for the annual enrollment tours. The enrollment tour. The enrollment tour in Mississippi will begin Feb. 13 and in Missouri, Feb. 20.

Negro Live-At-Home Competition

Negro farm families in the Mid-South, who have increased their spendable income by growing their feed and food, are given an opportunity to win $850 in cash awards in the 1939 Live-At-Home Competition.

Sponsored by The Daily Star and The Grenada Sentinel-Commercial Appeal, the Live At Home Competition has been enlarged and the prizes almost doubled. There will be separate awards for tenants, sharecroppers and landowners this year.

Enrollment blanks are available at the offices of the county agent. The enrollment drive will close April 5.

Grenada Team Ties For Honors

In the state debating contest, and competing with the winning teams from six districts, at Jackson, Grenada High's crack debating team divided the honors with Canton, The decision was a tie.

Grenada's team is composed of Paul Lockett, Susan Proby, Dick Rule and Claud Parks.

Commander H. C. Wilson announces that the local post of the American Legion will meet in the Grenada College Gym Friday evening, and have some matters of an urgent nature to consider.

It is stressed by the Post Commander that all members should attend this meeting.

"Mr. X" May Get Memory Back

JACKSON, Miss. — An old man whose life began when he forgo may be reborn today.

The famous, 70-year-old "Mr X" who has puttered around in the flower gardens of the Mississippi State Hospital for the insane during the last eight years may awake today as William H. Lawrence, a man who once sold insurance in Birmingham, Ala. But he may shake his head and smile the empty smile of the man whose brain died before his body.

Mr. X admitted that he was William H. Lawrence, but the mind that mysteriously became a blank was stimulated by Amytol, a powerful drug. The years that passed since police found him sitting on a curbstone were wiped away as Dr. P. A. Donaldson flogged his brains with suggestions, Mr. X told of his childhood and his life in Birmingham.

Then the voice that spoke as from a great distance drifted into incoherency and on ito inaudibility. It stopped on the day that his mind died.

Mr. X was identified by his brother and sister, Ben H. Lawrence of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Mrs. J. P. Haley, of Marion, Ala. They brought a family picture taken in 1929 to the hospital. It showed William H. Lawrence sitting by Mrs. Haley. The face of William H. Lawrence was the same as that of Mr. X.

A great many have responded to the free sugar offer. Have you.

City Council Calls A Special Meeting

Bonds for the building of an extension of about 8,000 square feet of space to the hosiery factory, in an amount not to exceed $15,000 and the bonds for paving in the amount of $30,000 will be sold by the City $30,000 will eb sold by the City ary 14th according to arrangements made at the regular meeting last night.

The meeting was not without its humorous side, as the Chief of Police charged that somebody at the City Hall had been drinking up the evidence in his liquor cases. There were only three keys for the vault, Mr. Crenshaw said.

Clubmen from the Rotary and Lions Club asked that some action be taken against "bums", and the Council instructed the Police department to arrest them and turn them over to the street department for labor on the sereets. Five were arrested last night.

A donation of $250 was given to the Grenada Band. J. H. Oliver appeared before the council in the interest of the donation.

Grenada Senior Wins 2nd Place

Miss Sue Vandiver, member of the Senior Class won 2nd place in the good citizenship girl contest sponsored by the D. A. R.

The judging was upon 4 points, 1 dependibility, 2 service, 3 patiotism, and 4 scholarship.

There were 75 girls competing in the state for the honor. Miss Catherine Brown, of Gulfport, capturing first honor and Sue Vandiver first alternate or second place winner.

Sue Vandiver has already been awarded a gold medal by the local D. A. R. with Mrs. H. A. Alexander presenting her the medal.

Australia Land of Thirst

Phoenix— Topping the National average in reduction of motor vehicle accident deaths, Arizona in 1938 showed a reduction in fatality rate of 23½ percent over 1937, according to a report of the Arizona highway department.

Univeristy News

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — "Rain or shine," some 30 or more aspiring freshmen will report Monday for the first rehearsal of Ole Miss' 1939 spring football practice, according to Head Coach Harry Mehre.

Mentor Mehre, who last year earned the sobriquet of "Mehrecle Man" when he guided a supposedly weak squad of gridders to nine victories in 11 games, has ordered last fall's squad of yearlings to report a week ahead of the varsity. The oldsters, some of whom may be gracing the bench by late September, will report Feb. 13.

The biggest job facing Mehre will be to replace all-Amrica Parker, (Bullet) Hall at left-halfback, key offensive post in the Notre Dame system. Another headache is the impending departure of Kimble Bradley, all-conference quarterback and No. 2 blocking back in the SEC.

Two more backfield men, Billy Mann at halfback and Johnny Lehnhardt at fullback, graduate In the line, Alternate-Captain Frank Hart and Thomas (Red) Parker vacate tackle positions, and Bonnie (Country) Graham vacates a reserve terminal slot.

Probably the best bet from frosh ranks to replace the mighty Bullet Hall is Junior ((Little John) Hovious. Some 40 pounds lighter than Hall, Hovious looms as a climax runner of superb if small proportions. He is a crack aerialist and an accurate punter.

Another brilliant prospect is Merle Hapes, dubbed the "California Comet" by his mates, who will pack 190 pounds at fullback along three threated liens. Hapes, the third member of the clan here, boasts a football pedigree that stretches from Oxford to California.

Willis Gladding from West Chicago, Ill., and J. W. Davidson, a Memphis product, are certain to aid at the flanks. Bill Eubanks and John Dodson, brother to Les, are other promising ones.

Gladding and Eubanks are especially adept at hanging on t aerials, with the 200 pound Chicago lad a rangy, smashing type who looms as a terrific prospect.

Not numbered among the ends, but especially clever at going down field for passes, is Romeo Popp, a former all-city pick from Detroit. Popp is the driving, twisting type of ball carrier who goes at it for all he's worth. Popp's a fullback, and will be in the thick of things for a starting berth.

John Pivarnic, built low to the ground, will be one of the best tackles striving for a place as a regular. From Bridgeport, Conn., he is a brother to a former all-American guard at Notre Dame, and packs 205 pounds. Is a former all-New England croice. Chet Kozel, a 210 pounder from Kenosha, Wis., Ralph McGill, another middle-western huskie, Charles Day, 230 pound prospect, George Western and Pete McCall are others who will be on tap for hard work.

All guards last year were sophomores, but five more youthful strangers to Rebel football put in an appearnce, all of whom can make things hard for the men who held forth in 1938. They include Geo. Olson and John Lebeau from the mid-west, Larry Hazel from Marshall, Mich., Fred Geiter from Camden, N. J., and Phil Fry from Forrest City, Ark. Bill Hazel and James Savage are other fair-sized candidates.

C. P. Swinney from Laurel, Albert Capello from Milwaukee, Wis. and Charles Beacham from Vicksburg will swing into action to compete for the center job.

Loyalist Cause Has Collapsed

PERPIGNAN, French - Spanish Frontier — Spanish Nationalist troops captured Figueras and Rosas, a few miles from the French frontier today, as reports were circulated that the Loyalist morale in Central Spain was cracking and that definite collapse of the Loyalist cause hight be near.

SPANISH WAR NEAR END

By WALLACE CARROLL
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON — Great Britain and France, coincident with their general efforts to end the Spanish Civil War, are trying to negotiate surrender of the great Loyalist base on Minorca Island to the Nationalists on condition that only Spanish troops occupy it, it was learned today.

It was asserted that the move, made because so far all efforts to end the war itself by mediation had failed, was due to fear that the Italians based on nearby Majorca Island might occupy Minorca, one of the most important strategic bases in the Mediterranean and a grave threat to France's communications.

It was believed in London tha the Loyalists, their leaders in disagreement, could be induced to make peace on one condition — that they were given some kind of assurances against reprisals.

The Nationalists had rebuffed every overture and insist on unconditional surrender.

For that reason, it was said, the British and French governments were trying now, as a first move, to negotiate the surrender of Minorca to the Insurgents in order to forestall an Italian occupation.

Informants said that the French had recently envisaged the possibility that they might have to occupy Minorca themselves, as a means of guaranteeing that the Italians eventually left Minorca.

Subscequently it was reported that the Italians were preparing to atttack the island in force.

Apparently wishing to prevent a French-Italian clash in the Balearics, the British approached the Nationalists with the suggestion that he occupy Minorca with a Spanish force. Generalissimo Francisco Franco was reported to have agreed. It was believed that the British now were trying to induce the 43,000 Loyalists on Minorca to consent to handing over the island to Franco, and that British naval commanders who regularly visit the island, and are friendly with its garrison, might be used to persuade them to the surrender.

The British-French move regarding Minorca made the entire European situation of the moment plainer. It explained the urgent British-French efforts despite every rebuff to arrange an armistice in the Spanish Civil War. It expained the statement in the House of Commons yesterday of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain—a statement whose importance high officials privately emphasized—that any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it might come, must invoke "immediate cooperation" by Britain. It explained why Bhitain and France planned to negotiate on the advisability of recognizing the Nationalists immediately as belligerents, why France had sent a special envoy so suddenly to negotiate with the Nationalist government, why Sir Robert Hodgson, British special agent to the Nationalists was to return to his post from London this week with special instructions, why the British government decided to ask the Italian government what was meant by Italian

Several Senators Kept Memo of Secret Session

F. D. R. Drafts Famous Letter

By LYLE WILSON

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt completed today a draft of the "interesting letter" in which he was expected to denounce the Senate for its rejection of Judge Floyd H. Roberts whom Mr Roosevelt had nominated to the Western Virginia District bench. The letter will be made public, perhaps today.

Mr. Roosevelt promised to send an interesting letter to Roberts if the Senate rejected his nomination, The vote against Roberts yesterday was 72 to 9.

Roberts' nomination and that of former Rep. Thomas R. Amlie, defeated Wisconsin Progressive, for membership on the Interstate Commerce Commission have opened Washington's battle for control of 1940 Democratic Natinal Convention which must nominate a presidential candidate.

Roberts was backed by Gov. James H. Price and the New Deal faction of Virginia Democrats. He was opposed by Virginia's Senators, Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd, both of whom expect to help nominate a comparatively Conservative Democrat for President next year.

The next test was expected when the Senate votes on the nomination of Amlis, who is being examined by a sub-committee as to his fitness to serve on the ICC. Amlie will be asked by Sen. Warren R. Austin, R., Vt., today to defend himself against charges by the Wisconsin legislature that he is a Communist.

Amlie opened the Interstate Commerce sub-committee's hearings on his nomination yesterday with a categorical denial of the communist charges. He cited the past record of attack on him by Communists as evidence of his contention that "I am not a Communist, and never have been a Communist."

"On the contrary," he said, "I have strongly opposed the Communist aims and program."

He said that he differed fundamentally with the principles of Communism, and that he would differ with anyone who espoused such principles "whether he called himself a Communist, a Republican, a Democrat or a National Socialist."

Amlie admitted that he favored government ownership of railroads and thought that the ICC would benefit by having a member with such views should that problem ever arise.

Pays Insurance, Falls Dead

Boston—Joseph Lewey, 48, handed his life insurance premium to an agent, and turned to leave and dropped dead.

WASHINGTON — At least two members of the Senate Military Affairs committee, it was learned today, have "diaries" of the committee's secret meeting with President Roosevelt last Tuesday.

The committeemen — a Democrat and a Republican — have locked up their personal memoranda, and indicated that publication must await until the secrecy ban has been lifted.

The "diaries" may figure prominent in the showdown between the President and isolationist senators.

The two committeemen, it was learned, hurried from the White House to their offices last Tuesday and dictated to the secretaries a comprehensive statement of what they had learned from the President. They indicated that their memoranda did not jibe with the foreign policy definition given by Mr. Roosevelt to newspapermen three days after the meeting.

The committee may meet tomorrow to consider several proposals for breaking the secrecy seal and making public testimony relating to the sale of American-made military planes to foreign governments. Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, D., Mo., has submitted a motion to publish all parts of the record except those containing actual military secrets whose revelation might injure the country.

Debate on foreign policy was expected to be resumed when the Senate meets again Thuraday.

Pope Pius Is Ill Again

VITICAN CITY — Pope Pius has temporarily suspended all audiences, it was announced today.

A high Vatican source said that he had suffered an attack of cardic asthma yesterday and that a physician, hastily summoned, had administered a digitalis injection.

Dr. Giovanni Rochi, the Pope's physician, refused to discuss reports that the Pope had suffered a slight attack of influenza. But other sources said that the cardiac asthma, cause of his great illness of past years, caued the trouble.

The Pope spent an exhausting day yesterday, reading hundreds of telegrams congratulating him on the 17th anniversary of his election to the Papal Throne.

Freak Fire In Barn

Augusta, Maine.— When Joseph Rony opened the barn door one morning he found only the charred ruins of a roadster which had been driven the night before. But tons of hay in the mows were untouched by the flames, despite the fact that straw and chaff was scattered on the floor near the car.

Peck Harris and Walter Garner agve a splendid program at the Rotary meeting th's week.

FOUR OF 'EM—Papa W. E. Badgett, 32, of Galveston, Texas, was a little stunned but happy, when his wife presented him with quadruplet daughters. The babies are shown here, in a picture taken through a transom at St. Mary's Infirmary. Babies were named Joyce, Jeanette, Jean and Geraldine. Doctors said they and their mother were doing well.

BREAD FOR THE CONQUERED—When the Spanish Insurgents entered the Loyalist capital of Barcelona, they found large numbers of the inhabitants living in the underground railway, half starved and ill. General Franco's men immediately began distributing bread, tins of condensed milk, sausage and chocolate bars. Above, victims clamor for food.

Farm Operations Should Be Planned

JACKSON, Miss. — Farming operations for 1939 should be planned to take full advantage of the assistance offered by the farm program for soil-building practices, according to T. M. Patterson, state administrative officer of the AAA.

"Now is the time to decide which practices you want to use this year to conserve and improve your soil," he states.

"There are probably a number of things you have been considering for building up your farm but up to this time your finances may not have permitted you to put those practices in operation. The AAA program is your opportunity. A sum of money is made available for each farm under this program, for assistance to cover part of the cost of carrying out the approved practices.

"Maybe you have been wanting to protect with a stand of trees a piece of your farm that is being badly damaged by erosion but have not felt that you could spare the money for the necessary seedlings. Under the soil-building feature of the program, assistance toward carrying out this practice will be allowed you at the rate of $7.50 per acre, up to the amount available for your farm. Assistance for other practices, such as terracing, liming, seeding legumes, green-manure crops turned under, contour listing, strip-cropping and establishing pastures, is allowed at comparable rates."

Details of the approved practices and rates of assistance may be obtained from the county office of the agricultural conservation association or from a member of the county or community committee.

May Create "Baseball Day"

WASHINGTON — Rep. James A. Shanley, D., Conn., who thinks his three-year-old son is a pitential Ty Cobb, asked Congress today to create a National baseball day.

Baseball, he contended, has saved the United States from the "excesses prevalent among nations abroad" and deserves a place of honor on the calendar.

Shanley has introduced a bill in the House that would authorize President Roosevelt to proclaim June 12, 1939, a baseball holiday and to order flags displayed on pubic buildings "and other suitable exercises." This year is the 100th anniversary of the first game of baseball.

Support for Shanley's bill was expected from such congressmen and government fans as Vice President John N. Garner, Postmaster General James A. Farley, and the President himself.

Shanley introduced his bill with a short speech, but in an extension of his remarks — to appear in the Congressional Record — he lauded the game that was first played in 1839 and now has reached the point where the New York Yankees win the World Series every year.

"Baseball," he said, "best exhibits the American ideal of true sportsmanship, has contributed most to the development of the American temperament and has been the nation's safety valve.

"For a hundred years, it has been America's pastime and passion. For a solid century it has brought despair to Mudville—joy to Middletown.

"Let all America rejoice and thank God this year for a game that for 100 years has built Americanism."

'39ers Celebrate Completion of Natchez Power Project

Mississippi dignataries gathered at Natchez January 25 to join with the '39ers club of the Natchez Association of Commerce in celebrating the completion of Mississippi Power & Light Company's $1,250,000 electric transmission line, river crossing and sub-station, bringing to the city an abundance of electric power for its rapidly expanding industrial developments. Shown above are, (1) Mayor William J. Byrne of Natchez throwing a huge master switch that officially energized the 110,000-volt line at a '39ers luncheon. Seated on his right are President Rex I. Brown of the Mississippi Power & Light Company, Mrs. James A. Walsh and Mr. Walsh, president of the Armstrong Tire and Rubber Co. On his right are Toastmaster W. H. Braden, Governor Hugh White, President W. R. Thomas of the Association of Commerce and Lt. Governor J. B. Snider; (2) President Brown inspecting the towering "Greenheart" poles imported from British Guiana, which support the line; (3) (left to right) Highway Director E. D. Kenna, Mayor Byrne, Governor White, President Brown, Mayor Walter Scott of Jackson and Rudolph Viener viewing river crossing from the Mississippi side. Note tower on Louisiana side just over Director Kenna's head; (4) new $300,000 plant of the Armstrong Tire and Rubber Company into which nearly a million dollars worth of machinery is being installed to be served by the new high line; (5) group of visitors inspecting one of the 405-foot towers at the river crossing. Note the base of the towers, which rests on a huge ball bearing allowing for "play" from wind pressure.

Gossip From The Grapevine League

(By Pete Lambert)

After the recently approved paving program is completed, Grenada will have the distinction of having but a few unpaved streets within out city limits, a distinction most cities can't boast of, even at Grenada's size.

It's an undisputable fact that the citizens of Grenada are doing their utmost in making Grenada one of the largest small cities in the state. After floundering around in the swamps of oblivion for so many years, realizing that they can't sit back and wait for prosperity to come to them, they have finally decided to go out and fight for what they want and need.

If this swift progress along the road to prosperity continues, Grenada, in a few short years, will be known throughout the state, as one of the state's most valuable industrial centers. We have one of the largest and better known lumber manufacturing institutes in the state, a federal compress and oil mill, two cotton gins, and a hosiery mill manufacturing hosiery that reaches distant points throughout the nation.

There has got to be an outlet for all these manufactured products to the other parts of the nation, but how? We are located at the junction of two state highways and one federal highway and we are on the route of one of the nation's largest railroads, and I'll venture to say, that in a year or two we'll be a connection for one of the national airlines.

Grenada has always been highly rated as an educational center, and has lived up to this reputation by perfect discipline in the city schools, but a city can't thrive on educational wares alone, it has got to balance education with industry and vice versa. The past few years we have witnessed this taking place in Grenada, and it will continue to occur, if all of the citizens will cooperate with the few who are already working for Grenada's interests.

CHATTER . . The hard torrents of rain for the past few days is playing havoc to the tar-covered streets around the public square . . bumpty bump, bumpty bum, around the square we go . . . Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moss, nee Mary Katheryn Kettle . . . Joe B. Williams should be known hereafter as POPPA JOE . . . There was quite a bit of disappointment because Grenada had no President's Birthday Ball, but all disappointments will be forgotten during preparation for the Mardi Gras Ball . . . Don't forget your choice for king and queen, both junior and senior . . . The new hotel's progress is wrapped up in so much secrecy 'till no one knows exactly what's taking place . . . maybe they'll tell us something in a few weeks . . . Quite a few feminine comments have been heard concerning Lynn Williams' absence from the fountain . . . Why do they campaign against Infantile Paralysis for only one month, when this should be a twelve month affair? Instead of collecting the dime donation cans the first of February, why can't this be done periodically throughout the entire year? . . . Thought of the day: "We should be thankful that we live in a country where a report of a gun means a hunter is at play, instead of living in a country where the same sound means a report of another death."

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — Speakers for the annual "Religious Emphasis Week", at the University of Mississippi were announced this week by Dean R. Malcolm Guess, general secretary of the "Y" organizations on the campus.

The two men selected to participate on the campus-wide religious program, sponsored by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., are Dr. W. B. Selah, pastor of St. Johns Methodist Church of Memphis, and T. Walker Lewis prominent member of the Idlewild Presbyterian Church congregation of Memphis and president of the Board of Directors of the Memphis Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Selah will address the entire student body at a College Hour program on Tuesday, Feb. 28. He will also deliver lectures to interested groups the following two nights.

Mr. Lewis, former president of the Memphis Rotary Club and outstanding in religious activities in the tri-states, will speak at another College Hour program on March 9.

Speakers on last year's Religious Emphasis program were Bishop R. O. Gerow of Natchez, head of the Catholic Church in Mississippi, and Rev. Paul Quilliam, of Houston, Texas.

Members of the Class of 1899 at the University of Mississippi have announced plans to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of their graduation with a reunion on the campus during Commencement Week, June 3-5.

Judge L. A. Smith, Sr., of Holly Springs, former president of the Ole Miss Alumni Association, and Major W. Calvin Wells, of Jackson, Chairman of the University Board of Trustees, are serving as a committee of two to promote the event. Judge Smith is permanent president of the class.

The reunion will be the fourth held by the class. Others were in 1925, 1929 and 1934.

The possible establishment of a forestry exhibit at the University of Mississippi wa announced this week by Dr. W. C. Morse, head of the Department of Geology and Director of the Mississippi Geological Survey.

Grenada Boys Defeat Sardis, Girls Lose

(By Sue Collins)

In the Sardis gymnasium Friday night our local boys defeated the Sardis high quintet 29-15. The Sardis boys did not lead in scoring throughout the game. Murphy was high scorer for Grenada.

Grenada girls lost to the Sardis sextet in a tight game. Not until the last quarter were the Sardis girls able to score the four points that gave them the game 21-17. Rounsaville was high scorer for Grenada.

Tuesday night, February 7, the Grenada teams will meet those of Holcomb on the home court. Holcomb boasts of unusually good teams this year and interesting games are expected. This is the last game Grenada will play on the home court, aside from the tournament, this season. Won't you please come out and support them? They are not working for personal honor but for you. Both teams and both coaches have worked hard to adequately represent you in these athletic contests. You can show them your appreciation by being present at their last home game Tuesday night at 7:30.

4-H Club Brings Many Opportunities

(By L. H. Stubblefield)

Boy's 4-H Club work is bringing more and more to the boys who are members the realization of the many opportunities he has at home in producing good quality livestock and crops, in livestock and crop judging contests and many other 4-H Club activities the boys are encouraged to follow the examples of the successful farmers of the county in production of better crops and livestock.

For livestock the county has an abundance of available grass land and water but it has lagged far behind in the production of good quality livestock. According to the president on the economic conditions of the South there is less than a third of the total livestock on American farms produced in the South; and because of the poor quality of many of them the value of the annual production of cattle is only one-sixth of the Nation's total.

Where farmers balance their crop system with livestock production they have found that the income from livestock is more than from crops, because the cost in production is so much less. The biggest expenses of farming is in the production of row crops.

The purpose of boy's 4-H Club work in our county is to bring about a balanced systeme of farming and at the same time to conserve our soil. Sixty-one percent of all the Nation's land badly damaged by erosion is in the Southern States. Our county has more than its share of this sixty-one percent. The heritage of the soil is a trust we should keep for all generations.

Senate May Expose Facts

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON — Isolationist senators threaten today to penetrate the seerecy concealing President Roosevelt's off-the-record explanation of why the United States was cooperating with European Democracies purchasing American fighting planes.

The group was leaderless and without assurance that Senate Military Affairs committeemen who heard Mr. Roosevelt's explanation would breach their pledge of silance. But the President's stern charge of misrepresentation on the part of unnamed members of the House and Senate and newspaper owners was certain to echo.

The Senate was not in session Friday when Mr. Roosevelt said the "boob" who attributed to him a statement that the American defnese line was now on the Rhine had told "a deliberate lie."

The strategy proposed was for senators critical of foreign policy to direct to military affairs committeemen questions about the secret White House conference. Some believed committee members might give their version of the conference despite the secrecy pledge, on the ground that they no longer could assume responsibility for popular ignorance of what transpired.

Some of them insisted they were unable now to reconcile entirely Mr. Roosevelt's conference statements and the four point "no foreign entanglement" foreign policy he gave to the newspapers at his Friday press conference. Republicans and a scattering of Democrats were demanding publicity.

Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., Cal., told the United Press that he plannel to "take my share of the questioning if it is begun."

Johnson and Sens. Bennett Clark D., Mo. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., H. Styles Bridges, R. N. H. and Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., were insistent that foreign policy should be clarified by revelation of at least some parts of the information given the committee men off-the-record.

In dispute were the explanation given to the committee at the White House and the testimony taken previously by the committee relating to facilities given France to purchase for cash new-type American fighting planes, which are said by Clark to have been developed specifically for submission to the United States army.

The Senate committee was unable last week to decide, but will consider again Friday, whether to make public the testimony it obtained from Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., General Malin Craig, chief of staff of the army, and other officials. That testimony was understood to contain a confirmation of the report that army and navy officers objected to giving France first bid on experimental fighting craft. If so, that would explain why the order extending purchasing facilities to the French air mission now in the United States was issued by Morgenthau rather than through either of the service departments.

Fines Assessed For Liquid Gas System Violation

JACKSON, Miss. — Fines of $1,000 each were levied against John and Ben Dockery, of Jackson, for the alleged violation of the state butane gas system requirements in the first conviction under the statute.

The complaint was brought by Col. Howard Dyer, state motor vehicle commissioner, who charged that the two men had installed a liquified butane gas system without first meeting the lawful requirements.

The law requires a permit to be granted a dealer upon posting of a bond guaranteeing that the dealer will meet all requirements and further requires an inspection by the motor vehicle department. The division charged that an installation was made without their knowledge.

The case was heard before Judge Mason Birdsong, at Bolton. Lowery Tims, liquified gas inspector for the motor vehicle department also attended the hearing.

NOTICE

In accordance with Section 6581, Code of 1930, laws of the State of Mississippi, notice is hereby given that I have this 23rd day of January, 1939, called a special election to be held by the trustees of the common and consolidated schools in the court house in Grenada, Mississippi, at two o'clock p. m. on Friday, February 17, 1939, to elect a member of the Grenada County School Board from Beat Three, Grenada County, Mississippi, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation from the said Board on January 23, 1939, of G. C. Trusty, of the said Beat Three, whose term will expire the first Friday in May, 1943.

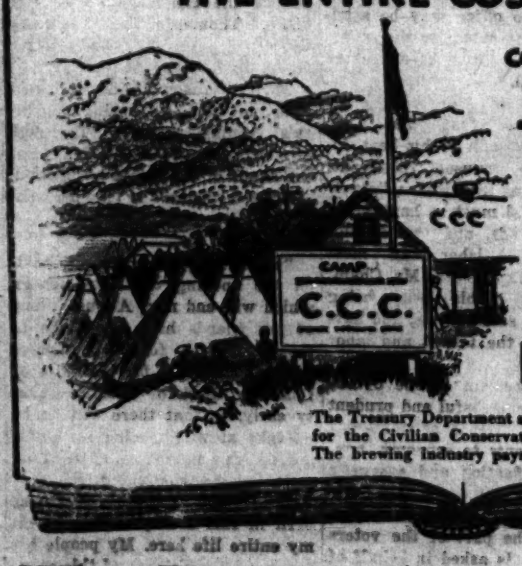
Respectfull ordered,
O. D. SPRATLIN,
Supt. Educ., Grenada County, Mississippi.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

THE ENTIRE COST OF THE C.C.C. COULD BE PAID FOR BY THE TAXES OF THE BREWING INDUSTRY!



The Treasury Department shows expenditures of 326 million dollars for the Civilian Conservation Corps for the fiscal year of 1938. The brewing industry pays over a million dollars a day in taxes.

What Beer contributes to the re-building of America would fill a great volume

Over 400 million dollars in taxes every year. Over 1,000,000 jobs. A market for 3,000,000 farm acres of produce.

The brewing industry would like to preserve for itself and the people the many economic benefits it has created in the past five years. Brewers everywhere realize that this is a question bound up with the proper distribution of their mild and wholesome beverage through retail outlets whose character will be a credit to the community. Obviously, the brewers can enforce no laws. But they can—and will—cooperate with the local law-enforcement authorities. They will cooperate with every group—friend or critic—to the end that retail beer outlets give no offense to anyone.

Civic League Meets

The Civic League met last week in the home of Mrs. A. N. Rayburn with the President, Mrs. J. E. Luffkin presiding. There were fourteen members present. This was one of the most profitable meetings that the League has had in many months. The league voted out of the treasury enough money to remove all old shrubs from the Confedearte park and place new ones from the nursery, and also to finish in February besidas the Confederate Park and place new ones front of the Rayburn home and the larger point by the John Hamby residence.

Last month the league replaced six crepe myrtles on the cemetery driveway. These plants are beginning to grow and blossom and will add much beauty to the approach of our cemetery.

We again invite those in sympathy wit the league ideal to come in with us. Dues are 50 cents a year—hardly the price of one beautiful shrub, but helps in the City's beautification.—Reporter.

In Memory of Rufus W. Edwards, who died Feb. 9, 1938

I miss you so much since you went away,
'Tis sad to know you've gone to stay.
You were my joy, my life.
When I think of you in days gone by
My steps grow tired and slow.

B. G. Meeting

Well, well, your old reporter was unable to get to the meeting for the whole session of the bachelor girls Saturday night, but, (like all good B. G. members), she managed to get there long enough for the delicious plate supper, which was composed of chicken spaghetti, pickle, potato chips, and lovely hot rolls. The meeting was held in the home of Mary Douglas Honeycutt.

The entertainment of the night was tables of bridge and Chinese checkers. One table in particular caught my eye as I passed through the living room. Several girls were happily engaged I ntrying to make the old-fashioned three-legged table talk! What fun. One of the main questions, which all seemed to be interested in was, "Who will I marry?" This question kinda stumped the table, which was a little too bashful to answer, and just remained quiet. Thus the girls turned to a more present-day problem, which, incidentally was of very much interest to all present. The question was, "Will I have my no-breaks and specials filled at the Mardi Gras?" There was a breathless silence, as the girls sat in concentrated silence about the table. This question, however, seemed to be too much for the prothetic ability of the table in question. It quivered a bit under the hands of the girls, then collapsed quietly to the floor, leaving the girls completely mystified, and still totally in the dark. Alas! Such is life!

The Bachelor Girls, never idle a moment, have planned quite an escapade for this next week. Watch for the report of their escapade!

Fairer Treatment For Railroads May Halt Danger Government Ownership

We have received a condensed report of the Committee of Six, appointed by President Roosevelt to examine the railroad situation and to make recommendations.

The Association of American Roalroads told the committee of these handicaps:

"Out of every dollar railroads take in, taxes take more than 9 cents, and the annual cost of providing and aintaining the roadway takes 23½ cents more.

"Out of every dollar taken in by the certificated motor carriers who report to the Interstate Commerce Commission, 4½ cents goes for taxes of all sorts, including license fees and gasoline taxes—and nothing more for roadway, which is built and maintained by the public.

"Out of each dollar taken in by inland water carriers reporting to the Interstate Commerce Commission, 2 cents goes for taxes—and nothing more for channels, which are buit and maintained by the public.

"And the Federal Barge Lines, government operated competitors of the railroads, pays nothing for taxes and nothing for its channels.

"With such unequal treatment and conditions, nothing which railroads might be able to do by themselves will solve their difficulties. Neither does any one think that those difficulties will be solved by legislation alone.

"They must be solved, however, if we are to enjoy the stability in transportation which is essential to lasting national prosperity."

The committee recommended that "commercial transportation by highways be required to pay its way, that is to pay for their use of the highways," also that

"The rate-making rule of the Inter State Commerce Act, applying only to railroads, should be replaced with a rule applying to all forms of transportation alike.

"Operation of the Federal Barge Lines should be discontinued and its equipment shoud be disposed of. Started as a five-year experiment fourteen years ago, these lines are operated at a loss by the Government of the United States in direct competition with its own tax-paying citizens, both railroads and privately operated boat lines."

That seems to us common justice and common sense. Moreover, it would be a start in getting the government out of business, where it is now competing with its own citizens—and competing at a loss.

The railroads are in such straits that tnere has been serious talk of the government having to take them over. That would be to repeat the tragedy when during the World War the government assumed charge of the railroads and within less than 2 years lost the gigantic sum of 4 billion dollars!

If the government cannot operate a barge line where it pays nothing in taxes and nothing for channels, except at a loss, how may thousand dollars a minute do you estimate it would lose operating our vast network or railroads?—Mississippi Sun, Charleston.

$908,805 Aid For Libraries Sought By State

Mississippi would receive $908,805 of Federal aid, and $1,059,800 for adult education during the next six years under the educational aid bill introduced in the House.

The author is Representative William H. Larrabee, of Indiana, chairman of House Education committee.

The Mississippi allotment would be:

For rural library services: 1939-40 $60,587; 1940141, $121,174. 1941-42 and each of three succeeding years, $181,761.

For adult education: 1939-40, $70,654; 1940-41, $121,308; 1941-42, and three succeeding years, $221,962.

In addition to these grants which would be contingent upon adoption of cooperative legislation by the state, Mississippi would receive Federal aid for advancement of public elementary and secondary schools, for preparation of teachers, for school building construction, and for administration of the department of education.—Quoted Washington (AP).

Grenada county would receive $1,000 a year from this fund because it is to be paid at the rate of 10c per rural person. Please get in touch with your legislative representatives both State and National, asking them to support this bill.

GRAYSPORT FARM BUREAU MEETS

(Mrs. Henry Willis, Reporter)

The Graysport Farm Bureau hold its regular meeting Monday night, February 6 In the absence of the president, Mr. Jim Shaw, Mr. J. L. Cooley presided.

As a special feature, Mr. Ed Stanley from the Extension Service of State College lead a discussion on cooperative gins.

A large and enthusiastic audience entered heartily into the discussion. Interesting talks were made by Mr. Vernon Mallory of Calhoun City and Ed Worthy of Grenada. After some discussion, the question was asked "Can WE have a cooperative Gin?" To find the answer a special meeting was called for Monday night, February 13.

All interested in having a first class gin in east Grenada county are invited to attend.

Practical Hot-Bed Built In Basement Window

If you have a basement window with southern exposure, it is possible to build a practical hot-bed which is more easily watched, aired and watered than the standard type.

In front of the window make a shallow excavation, about a foot deep. The size must be figured carefully, so that a frame set in this excavation can be covered by window or hot-bed sash. As in the case of other hot-bed sash, glass substitute may be ued on the sash, if deired.

Build a frame to fit in the excavation. The sides must slant sharply from a point above the window, almost to the ground. Fit the sash on this frame, using hinges at the top so the sash may easily be raised for ventilation. Earth may be banked around the frame to keep out the cold, and the sides should be as tight as possible to keep out the wind.

The frame may have to be caulked where it joins the foundation to prevent drafts, otherwise it is built like the garden type, using a standard or odd sized sash as you choose.

Heat is supplied to this bed by opening the basement window, and allowing the heated basement air to enter the bed. The window is left open at night, and may often be closed during the day, when the sun is shining on the bed. Hotbeds of this type have been tried and tested, and although they do not maintain temperatures as high as other kinds the heat will be more even, and the ventilation much better.

Hotbed Built Into Basement Casement

What to sow in a hot-bed? The tender vegetables that need a long season, such as tomatoes, peppers and egg plants, cabbage and cauliflower, a few cucumbers or summer squash in pots sunk into the earth so they may be transplanted readily, all may be started here.

Most of the annual flowers will benefit from an early start here if you do not plan to put them in the cold frame, otherwise use the hotbed only for the tender or slow ones.

The main things to watch are temperature, and drafts. Ventilation is necessary on warm days, and for very short periods on cooler days. So seed thinly and water bed moderately when planting; thin out when needed.

Loyalists Flee Into France With Arms

PERPIGNAN, French - Spanish Frontier — The Spanish Loyalist defeat in Catalonia became a decable today. The rich province was lost. The government had fled to the safety of France and the main body of the army began a mass retreat over the frontier, surrendering its arms to French troops.

Fleets of Loyalist fighting planes landed at French airports. Long columns of artillery, tanks and munitions trains jostled retreating troops and civilian refugees on the crowded highways at the frontier.

There were persistent reports that the Republican government sought and Armistice. From Nationalist territory came back word that unconditional surrender alone would be accepted.

Thousands of French troops along the frontier were on war footing. They mounted field guns and machine guns at commanding points in the Pyrenees, ready to repel any Nationalist encroachment. French anti-aircraft guns already had gone into action agaoinst poaching airplanes which flew over French territory.

President Manuel Azana of the Loyalist government was expected in Paris today after crossing the frontier afoot yesterday. President Luis Companys of the Catalonia autonomous republic entered France with all members of his government, and it was announced that for Catalonia the Civil War was over. Jose Antonio de Aguirre, president of the Basque Autonomous Republic likewise arrived in France.

DISCOVERY MAY DOUBLE YIELD OF MUSHROOMS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — Exprimnts with an artificial mushroom compost which with new culture practices may double mushroom yields are under way at the Pennsylvania State College.

Dr. J. W. Sinden, associate professor of botany, has experimented with synthetic composts and has found that a compost suitable for mushroom growth can be made from wheat, wheat straw and urea.

For years, Dr. Sinden said, a ton of compost was spread over approximately 70 square feet of mushroom bed. A ton of the new compost can be spread over 175 square feet without reducing the yield per square foot, thus doubling the total yield from a ton of compost from 140 to 350 pounds.

He said the finished synthetic compost was similar in texture to natural compost but was looser in structure.

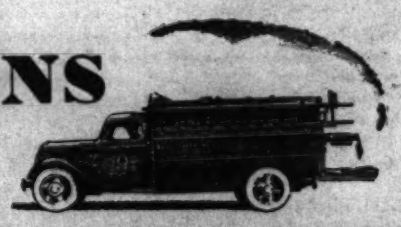
TONS of Prevention



WHEN you see those interesting big gray-green Southern Bell trucks rolling along, you're likely to think they are going to the scene of some break in the telephone lines. Breaks ARE repaired quickly, day or night, but merely repairing breaks after they occur wouldn't provide the kind of telephone service you're entitled to. It is also necessary to prevent interruptions to your vital telephone service. This is done by constant checking—replacing weak units—reconstructing in accordance with new knowledge and materials—maintaining unceasing vigilance over the long distance lines to locate and correct faults before they become serious. The number of "troubles" on Southern Bell lines has been reduced two-thirds in ten years, by using such "tons of prevention", as well as "tons of cure". These "tons" of prevention are one part of the Bell System's constant effort to insure for you a constantly improving telephone service that is efficient—dependable—economical.

WHEN READY TO TRANSPLANT INTO OPEN BEDS DIG A FEW SEEDLINGS AT A TIME AND GET THEM INTO THE GROUND AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE.

The Cold Frame Story—How To Build and Use It.

There is quite a bit of woodwork connected with gardening and winter is a good time to be at it. A major task is building a coldframe, which is well called the amateur gardener's best friend.

In those tantalizing weeks of early spring, when a warm sun one day sets the garden fever burning, and freezing weather that night chills the courage, a cold frame is priceless.

Everybody needs one, though he may have a hot-bed, or even a green house in addition. To the great majority of home gardeners, the cold frame will suffice for all real needs in early sowing.

Easy to build, and simple to operate, it enables seds to be sown several weeks before it would be safe to sow them in the open. With the protection of the glass sash on frosty nights the seeds will germinate, and the seedlings grow sturdily, until they are large enough to trasplant into the open ground.

To make a cold frame, the accompanying illustrations give full and detailed instructions. The soil which is used in it should be fine, friable top soil, well pulverized. Sow the seed as you would in a flat, or hotbed, water thoroughly and firm the soil over the seed, pressing smooth with a brick, or piece of board.

Watering now becomes of great importance. At no time should the soil be allowed to become hard and dry. Yet excessive watering may cause the seeds to rot, sour the soil, or cause "damping off." When the plants appear, thin them out, allowing each to grow singly without crowding.

After the seedlings appear, watering is still important. Good drinks between which the soil dries somewhat without becoming crusty and hard, should be the rule. And fresh air is the next great need. On sunny days, the sash should be lifted early in the morning, otherwise the temperature may quickly run to a dangerous height. Inspect the cold frame at least every morning and afternoon, and remember it whenever th weather changes abruptly. You will soon learn the program needed to keep the young plants growing vigorously, which means with good heavy roots and strong stems, stocky rather than tall and spindling.

When transplanting time comes, take up the seedlings with as little disturbance of the roots as possible and get them back into the ground as soon as you can.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL

Adequate and Dependable

Last year the Illinois Central System met the needs of business and individuals by carrying 9,412,956,488 tons of freight one mile and 604,649,960 passengers one mile.

That's adequate and dependable transportation.

To serve so completely and successfully is the ideal of a common carrier. It means we must be prepared to carry anything, any time, anywhere we go.

Nor may we discriminate. We must take care of all.

Adequate transportation requires track, power and cars in volume ample for the business. Dependable transportation requires loyal, willing, intelligent operation.

The proper combination of these factors is a large order, but we filled that order last year, and we will fill it again.

Fifty-Fifth Wedding Ceremony

(The Rev. A. W. Bailey)

(Used at the fifty-fifth Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Curle, Holcomb, Miss., January 31, 1939).

When a young man and a young woman in all of the idealism, enthusiasm, and devotion of youth, pledge themselves to each other as partners for life, the conviction grows upon us that marriage is of God. But, when such a couple after fifty-five years, are still happily united in heart and in hand, still devoted to each other in all the wisdom, tenderness, and affection of more mature years, the glory of the divine rests upon, as Heaven's benediction crowns their relationship of love.

According to the poetic language of the book of Genesis, it was in a beautiful garden, while the dewdrops of creative freshness lingered and sparkled in the early morn of creation ,that marriage was instituted by divine appointment and given, in infinite wisdom and love, to increase and make perfect human love and happiness, to provide transmission of truth and holiness from age to age, and to support social order.

Sam J. Curle and Maggie Harrmons Curle, you were remindel of this truth fifty-five years ago, as you stood up together, with hands united and harts beating as one, to make the most solemn vows of life, and to begin together the tenderest and most sacred of human relationships. At that time you promised to love,honor and cherish each other in heatlh and sickness, in prosperity and in adversity, so long as you both should live.

This happy fifty-fifth wedding anniversary is possible because these vows haye been most solemnly and faithfully kept for over half a century. Your son who has grown to call you blessed testifies to that mutual love, of sympathies that met when duties were hard, and of that fervent prayer and simple trust that made his childhood home the most sacred spot on earth. Your example there of service, sacrifice, and love is an inspiration to him to face life bravely and to follow, as you have done, the Pillar of Cloud by and and the Pillar of Fire by night.

Now, in the spirit of this joyous occaisoon, you, Sam J. Curle, and you, Maggie Hammons Curle, just as you did fifty-five years ago, will please to unite your right hands.

Sam J. Curle, do you gladly testify before God and these witnesses that the dear one you hold by the hand has been your true and loving wife, in health and in sickness, in prosperity and in adversity, since you took her for better or for worse?

Sam J. Curle: "I do."

Maggie Hammons Curle, do you likewise gladly testify before God and these witnesses that the dear one whom you hold by the hand has been your true and loving husband, in health and in sickness, in prosperity and in adversity, since you took him for better or for worse?

Maggie Hammons Curle: "I do."

In view of the answer just given, I do now, as a minister of the Lord Jesus Christ, pronounce you Master of the Fine Art of Living Together, and what God has thus worked out in your lives let all men everywhere approve.

Let us pray: Eternal and everblessed God, our Father, we thank Thee for Thy guidance in the lives of Thy children; for these two whose pathways met in Thy good providence fifty-five years ago, and who have gone hand in hand to the present hour. We thank Thee for their simple trust which has prevented outer experiences from taking away the sanctity of life, and which has enabled them, through the tears of sorrow and the strain of duty to subside into the depths of wonder and love. Let Thy richest blessing rest upon them, we pray Thee, as they come to this happy hour. Give them every needed blessing, temporal and spiritual, and may they have many more happy and useful years together.—Amen.

Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

On Tuesday, January 31, Mrs. A. W. Bailey, assisted by the ladies of the Holcomb Methodist Missionary Society gave to Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Curle a surprise celebration of their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary. The happy old couple was inited to be present at the parsonage at two-thirty o'clock. Upon arrival they found gathered some of their elderly friends, their son and his family, Mr. Clifton Curle, and all the ladies of the Missionery Socity.

The room was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns, carrying out a color scheme of gold and white. The honorees were seated beneath a large white wedding bell, which was suspended from an inprovised bower of gold and white ribbons.

The program of the occasion was as follows:

Violin Solo—Long, Long ago—Frank Gee.

Reading — Betty Ann Bailey.

Song by all guests—Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet.

Poem — "A Lengthy Marriage —Mrs. Dotson Hayden.

A tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Curle —Mrs. E. D. Holcomb.

Trio — "When You and I Were Young Maggie" —Chester Martin, Groce Carver, A. W. Bailey.

Ceremony — Bro. A. W. Bailey.

Little Misses Caroline Hill, Betty Ann Bailey and Maggie Ree Curle then presented trays of gifts to the happy pair. After all the guests had seen the gifts, they all were invited into the beautifully decorated, candle-lit dining room to take part in seeing the wedding cake cut and served. Delicious refreshments were then served. As the guests prepared to leave Mrs. Curle asked to read a little poem as a parting thought for them to carry home. It expressed their appreciation for the party and the love they held in their hearts for their many friends.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Curle. May they have many more wedding anniversaries blessed with health and with happiness.

A POEM

By Mrs. Mary D. McMahan
Read By Mrs. D. Hayden

Upon a hill in this little town
Live a couple that's known for miles around.
We call them Ma and Pa,
Their name is Curle
And a friskier couple is not in the world.
The are always into every plan
That's being made, they beat the band
At having fun, make the young ones
They had half the "pep" that is in their dish.
They tell me, I'm sure I don't know,
That Ma runs things, says how it shall go
But Pa just lets her have her say
Then in the end, he has his way.
They're married fifty-five years today
My! that's a long time you men will say
But I am told that Pa impatient, tho' kind,
Waited six years for her to make up her mind,
These many years you've spent together
In foul and also fairest weather
Has served you well or so you look
I'm sure your marriage must have been out of the book.
We love you both and here's to you
May you be happy and live long too,
Your friends are many, your life's work good,
You'll deserve in Heaven a golden hood.

Tribute to Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Curle

(By Mrs. Edd Holcomb)

Over fifty years ago there came into our midst a dashing young man bringing with him a dainty, modest, little wife. This happy young couple had no trouble in adjusting themselves to their new surroundings and soon made a host of friends. As time passed on they became one of the outstanding families. It is with pleasure that we take this opportunity today to express our appreciation to you. As you have gone about your daily tasks in a very quiet way you have shown a deep devotion to God and to each other, that is an inspiration to all of us.

Your smiles, kind words, optimistic attitudes, high ideals, spirit of cooperation and perserverence will ever be remembered by frinds and acquaintances.

Mr. Curle and Mrs. Curle though you are not so spry or active as you were several years ago, we are glad you are still living in our little town.

The older people, the young people and the children of Holcomb love you and wish fr you many, many more happy years together and happy years with all of us.

What Is Worship?

I am one of the few oldest experiences of men. Yet, every child must learn my meaning anew. I touch people, when their minds are centered on small things, and fill them with what is great.

I seem to draw people away from life—in order to empower them for fully understanding and mastering life. I am rooted in the sense of wonder in the soul of a small child. I grow out of the feeling of mystery with which youth moves into its enlarging world.

The adoration of what is good, and aspiration to what is noble, are my ministry to the soul.

I am a pathway by which you and your children together find God.

I am worship.

SPANISH WAR

newspaper statements that Italian troops would remain in Spain until the Nationalists had won a "political" as well as military victory.

That the Spanish was must end soon, everyone here agreed. How it would end they could not foresee. President Manuel Azana of the Loyalist government said in France today: "I want peace and Spain wants peace as soon as possible." French frontier reports were that the Loyalit morale in Central Spain was weakening. The Nationalists were expected to close the entire Catalonian frontier bordering on France within a couple of days. Loyalist leaders were divided.

But so far they refused to surrender unconditionally, because they had nothing to gain by doing so, and the Nationalists refused to consider conditions.

Some quarters suggested here that the move to negotiate surrender of Minorca was likely to start general peace negotiations.

NOTICE

TO THE PUBLIC:

GREYHOUND ASKS RIGHT TO SERVE GRENADA

Dixie Greyhound Lines has been operating over U. S. Highway 51 since June 25th, but is not now allowed to pick up or discharge passengers at this town. It is now making application to the Inter-State Commerce Commission for permission to pick up and discharge passengers at Grenada in order that the citizens of this town and vicinity may enjoy its service.

We solicit your assistance in correcting what we feel is an unjust discrimination against you and ourselves. Why should a bus line operate through your town a fast through service from New Orleans to Chicago and you be denied the right to use it? Why should one bus company be given the right to carry you, and another bus company now operating over the same highway be denied such right? We Desire To Serve You. Help Us Do It.

HISTORY

During the depression (in October, 1930) Pickwick "Greyhound" surrendered its right to operate over U. S. Highway 51 from Memphis to Jackson. Pickwick was not one of the companies controlled by the Greyhound group, and had no connection whatever with Dixie Greyhound Lines. Dixie Greyhound has never at any time had any right to serve towns on U. S. Highway 51, and surrendered no such right. In July, 1933, when no other bus company had applied for or acquired the right to serve these towns, Dixie Greyhound Lines was the first company to apply to the Mississippi Railroad Commission for the right to carry passengers over U. S. Highway 51 from Jackson, Mississippi to Memphis, Tennessee, asking to serve all intervening points, but were denied such right. Other applications were filed in the year following, but the only right yet granted to Dixie Greyhound Lines is that to operate the present Through (non-stop) service. Dixie Greyhound is now again asking permission to pick up and discharge interstate passengers at this town.

We do not ask any special privilege over this highway not possessed by the competing bus company, since the competing company is now picking up and discharging passengers at this town and its right to do so is not being disturbed, and its passengers can continue to ride its buses. We ask for the opportunity to compete and to give you the right to ride our interstate coaches if you feel that we are furnishing a more convenient, more efficient, and superior type of service.

We ask the right to compete on an equal basis for interstate business and that one company be not given a monopoly over another company operating over the same highway.

The Dixie Greyhound Lines uses the new SUPER COACH, which we believe to be the most comfortable riding bus yet constructed. The new coaches to be put into service next spring are air conditioned. WE WANT YOU TO HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY TO RIDE THESE COACHES. THEY ARE PASSING THROUGH YOUR TOWN. DO YOU WANT AN OPPORTUNITY TO USE THEM? REMEMBER, AFTER PICKWICK CEASED OPERATIONS, AND BEFORE THE HIGHWAYS WERE PAVED, DIXIE GREYHOUND WAS THE FIRST BUS COMPANY TO ASK PERMISSION TO GIVE THIS SERVICE.

Riverdale H. D. Club Meeting

The Riverdale Home Demonstration Club held its regular meeting Thursday, February 2, in the home of Mrs. W. N. Hayward with Mrs. F. B. Coats, Jr., as co-hostess. There were eighteen members present and one visitor, Miss Elizabeth Jones, of Grenada. At this meeting one new member was taken in, Mrs. T. H. King, who has recently moved to the Baker place.

The meeting was opened with the members standing and singing "Follow the Gleam" and "Home on the Range."

Mrs. Boteler gave a report on the meeting of the County Council and Mrs. Coats gave a report of Mrs. McNese's talk that was given at the council meeting.

At this meeting we were honored to have Miss Elizabeth Jones who gave a report on Mississippi authors from the time the state entered the Union until now.

Miss Wood asked that the club help her with the Grenada 4-H girls. Mrs. Boteler appointed Mrs. Greevin and Mrs. Townes as the two members to meet with the girls and Miss Wood.

Several contests were enjoyed and the winners, Mrs. Boteler and Mrs. Taylor, received a wall plaque and a glass refrigerator jar.

The hotsesses served pear salad, cheee ritz, cakes and hot tea.

The Orchestra Aided Program

The ensemble orchestra, the members of which are also members of Grenada Band, aided materially with the banquet, Friday night at which local Lions entertained their ladies and number of important visitors.

The Lions quartette composed of Messrs. Woodson, Davis, Dollarhide and Lyle, was also received most heartily.

Essay Contest On Alcoholic Liquor

(By J. S. Vandiver)

The State Department of Education is sponsoring an essay contest on the subject, "The Effects of the Use of Intoxicating Alcoholic Liquor as a Beverage," as authorized by law.

The members of the senior class of each high school in the state are eligible to participate in this contest. The pupil who wins this essay contest will be given a one-year scholarship in any one of the state aided colleges with all service fees paid in said college. The board of supervisors of each county is authorized in its discretion to contribute, not exceeding $100.00 out of the general county fund toward paying the expenses of the author of the county prize essay in attendance as a student at such college in the state as the pupil may choose to attend.

Rules governing this contest are being sent to county superintendents and superintendents of high schools. Any pupil who is interested in this contest may get complete details by contacting either the superintendent of his school or the county superintendent of education.

Pupils from forty-six counties in the state participated in the contest last year. Miss Grace Baker, of Tupelo, Miss., was the state winner last year. She is attending school at the University of Mississippi this year and is making a very enviable record.

This is a very worth while and important contest and we feel that the teachers of every high school in the state would be justified in requiirng every senior to write an essay. It will not only give to them much valuable training and information, but will aid some boy or girl materially in a year's work in college.

Feb. 8th Boy Scout Birthday

Responding to the thems "Scouting Carries on American Ideals" more than a million and a quarter Scouts and Scouters (adult leaders) will today launch a series of activities in celebration of Boy Scout Week, marking the 29th birthday of the Boy Scouts of America, first incorporated in the District of Columbia on February 9, 1910 and later granted a Federal Charter by Congress. Since the earliest Scouts were enrolled a total of 8,400,000 boys and men have been members of the Boy Scout Movement in this country and have participated in its constructive program of participating citizenship activities, of which the current plans are tipical. Fifteen hundred scouts and cubs of the Delta State Council will participate in this celebration according to advice received from Scout executive George Simpson.

The Scout Birthday today, will, according to Scout tradition, be the time when former and active Scouts and Scouters will be expected to re-pledge themselves to the Scout Promise, in their own homes or in their Troops and Patrols, as a demonstration of the way scouting and cubbing both seek to suplpement and support the influence of the American home. It is expected that important national broadcasts will mark this phase of the Scout celebration including, it is hoped, one from the White House by President Roosevelt who is likewise Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America.

Tomorrow has been named Scout Citizenship Day, when in school assemblies and other civic programs Scouts will demonstrate the contributions they are making to the civic life of their own school and community groups. Scouting is increasingly becoming a factor in the life of public schools throughout the nation and leading educators in all sections are cooperating to that end. Dr. Dan Kelly, Superintendent of Schools in Binghampton, N. Y., is chairman of the special national committee on "Scouting in the Schools."

Friday, February 10th will be Scout Brotherhood Day, when every Scout Troop meeting that night has been urged to have Scout guests from one or more other Troops especially for the purpose of demonstrating the Scouting truth that a Scout is a brother to every other Scout, regardless of race, creed or class. Hosts and guests alike will vie with each other in creating conditions designed to breed permanent friendships as a living manifestation of the American way of living together in harmony and cooperation.

On Saturday, February 11th Troops and Senior Scout groups will carry out useful projects illustrating the well-established fact that "a Scout is Helpful." These events will mark Scout Service Day, on which Scouts will be alert to discover and execute service enterprises of value to their own communities or to dramatize, in store windows or on prominent street corners, the sort of services that mark their pledge to "Do a Good Turn Daily" as a partoftheir Scout Promise.

Scout Church Day, Sunday, February 12, or, in the case of Scouts of the Jewish faith, the previous Friday or Saturday, will offer each Scout and Scouter an opportunity to fulfill his soleman obligation to the twelfth part of the Scout Law —"A Scout is Reverent—he is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion." More than fifty percent of all Troops, Cub Packs and Sea Scouts Ships are sponsored by churches, religious bodies and societies and scouting recognizes and actually supports the place of religion in American life.

Scout Dedication Day, Monday, February 13th, has been planned especially for Senior Scouts, including Sea Scouts, Explorer Scouts and Rover Scouts. For this group there has recently been written a "Senior Scout Citizenship Dedication" by Chief Scout Executive James E. West and so they are planning ceremonies of dedication either in their meeting places or at convenient patriotic shrines or points of historical interest. In many cases those formalities wil ltake place as part of an outdoor campfire at the climax of a one or two-day hike or camping trip.

The final day of the Boy Scout Week, Tuesday, February 14th, will be devoted to events showing Scouting's contributions to American Life as a leisure-time program offering boys and young men wholesome recreation and has been designated as Scout Fund Day. In addition to Troop parties and Senior Scout social activities many other ways of furthering the so-called "play way" of Scouting re being planned by leaders' groups.

57,977 Claims Received In 1938

JACKSON, Miss. — During 1938 the Mississippi Unemployment Compensation Commission received claims from 57,977 different individuals and paid out $1,416,256.50 in weekly insurance checks averaging $5.90 each, according to an annual statement released today by Executive Director Leon L. Wheeless.

Beginning April 1, the Commission accepted 67,241 initial claims for job insurance. Of these 54,392 were allowed and 11,634 were disallowed, leaving only 1,815 on hand and unprocessed at the end of the year. Claims are disallowed if the workers are not unemployed and available for jobs or do not have adequate wage records with covered employers. The commission also postponed payments of 1,427 claimants who were discharged for misconduct or unwilling to work at suitable employment.

The commission wrote 240,236 checks totaling $1,416,256.50 between April 25, the date payment began, and the end of the year. It terminated 40,591 claims because the workers failed to make the required weekly reports to the Mississippi State Employment Service and prove availability for work or because benefit rights were exhausted. No individual may receive in one year more than 14 times his weekly benefits amount or one-sixth of his wage credits with covered employers, whichever is less.

The Mississippi State Employment Service, a divilon of the commission, made 53,840 completed placements of applicants for jobs. These included 14,876 placements in private employment and 38,964 in public. Also 3,876 incomplete placements were made. At the year end the MSES had on file the applications and work records of 85,293 active job seekers, indexed so that the best qualified workers could be promptly referred to any employer indicating an interest in interviewing appicants for a particular job. All initial and continued claims for unemployment compensation must be filed through the MSES.

In the first three months of 1938 the Employment Service completed an organization with 24 local offices in the state and an itinerant schedule which carries a representative to every county seat regularly each week. Raymond L. Sullivan is director.

During the 12 months the Commission collected $2,347,069.82 from firms covered by the Unemployment Compensation Law. These are employers of eight or more workers in manufacturing, mercantile and other business enterprises. The reserve fund was also increaed by interest earnings of $61,373.97. All collections from employers are placed in the reserve fund, which is used exclusively for job insurance payments to unemployed and eligible workers. On December 31 this fund stood at $3,329,307.20.

All administrative expenses of the Unemployment Compensation Division were paid by the federal government on atuhorization of the Social Security Board. Expenses of the Employment Service were borne by the federal government through allotments of the Social Security Board and the United States Employment Service and by a state appropriation.

British Seek Island Freedom

By WALLACE CARROLL

LONDON—The British cruiser, Devonshire, has left Port Mahon, Minorca Island, after a secret visit during which its commander was believed to have negotiated with the Spanish Loyalists to surrender to the Nationalists and avoid an Italian occupation it was understood today.

It had been known that the British and French governments sought to negotiate the surrender of the Island fearing that otherwise the Italians now based on nearby Majorca might occupy it. Majorca is one of the most important islands in the Mediterranean, strategically It is nearly impregnable, but is reported to be suffering from a food shortage—and it is directly on the line of France's Life-Line of comunication to clonial Africa.

Britain and France approached the Nationalists, asking them whether they would guarantee that only Spaniards should occupy the island if it were surrendered. It was believed that the Nationalists had agreed.

LOST ARMY WANDERS IN PYRENEES SECTION

French - Spainsh Frontier — UP—Between 15,000 and 25,000 Loyalist troops, a lost army, are wandering in the mountains and valleys of the Pyrenees Mountains west of Andora, it was reported today, cut off by the Nationalists and seeking to cross passes in which snow lies 20 feet deep.
